

CSEAS Weekly Bulletin

Center for Southeast Asian Studies at Northern Illinois University • Week of November 5, 2018

At this year's NIU STEMfest Oct. 30, CSEAS Office Manager (and former teacher) Lisa Heal, right, demonstrates how unwanted substances can enter a water supply, using the traditional dying of cloth in Myanmar as an example. More than 6,800 people attended STEMfest this year. Thanks to all who staffed the Center's table: FLAS fellows Annie Hodal, David Waite and Thomas Phetmeuangmay, Outreach Coordinator Matt Jagel and Outreach GA Qi Yu. Thanks also to CSEAS associate and hydrogeology expert Melissa Lenczewski, who shared her testing equipment for the CSEAS exhibit.

1. This week's lecture: Empire and disease in French colonial Vietnam NEW

Vann

Historian Michael Vann, California State University-Sacramento, will present “The Great Hanoi Rat Hunt: Empire, Disease and Modernity in French Colonial Vietnam” at noon Friday, Nov. 9, in Campus Life 100. In his 2018 book The Great Hanoi Rat Hunt (Oxford University Press), Vann recounts the story of the French colonial government’s failed efforts to impose its version of modernity on the city of Hanoi, offering a case study in the history of imperialism. To order a Southeast Asian lunch, submit an online request by 6 p.m. Thursday at CSEAS Brown Bag Order. To cancel an order, you must do so online by 10 a.m. Friday. Cost is $5 for students, $7 for faculty, staff and others. Payments may be made in cash or by check. E-mail cseasbrownbag@gmail.com for details.

2. Presented and accounted for at MCAA NEW

CSEAS associate Kanjana Thepboriruk (World Languages and Cultures) and graduate students Nicole Loring (PhD candidate, political science) and JoAnn LoSavio (PhD candidate, history) presented papers at the Oct. 19–20 Midwest Conference on Asian Affairs at Metropolitan State University in St. Paul, MN. Thepboriruk presented “Dear Thai Sisters: Nationalizing Thai Womanhood.” Loring presented “Seven Steps and Eight Years of Changes: Institutional Changes and Moves toward Liberalization in Myanmar 2003-2010” and LoSavio presented “The ‘Second Wave’ of Thai-U.S. Migration: The Peace Corps, Professional Networking and Higher Education.” Two former FLAS fellows also presented at the conference. Philip Cerepak (MA history, 2013), now a PhD candidate at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, presented “King Copra and the Industrialization of the Philippine Coconut Industry, 1948–1965,” and Tiffanesha Williams (MA political science, 2014), a PhD candidate at the University of Missouri-Columbia, presented “Heirlooms of Colonialism: Dutch Colonial Education Policy and Post-Colonial Governance.”

3. International Ed Week: Celebrating language, cultures, art and more NEW

CSEAS has something on the schedule every day for International Education Week at NIU Nov. 12–16. Thai language instructor Duangkamon Winitkun will be reading Hush! A Thai Lullaby to children at DeKalb Public Library at 6 p.m. Monday. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, CSEAS’s Foreign Language Teaching Assistants will set up SEA language tables in DuSable Hall from 11 a.m. to noon. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday (Burmese on Tuesday, Indonesian on Wednesday, and Tagalog on Thursday). Also on Tuesday, CSEAS, the Division of International Affairs, and the DeKalb ELS Center will host Grounds for Celebration, an invitation-only reception for area families who have hosted international exchange students, from 6 to 8 p.m. in Ellington’s Café. On Thursday, the Southeast Asia Club is hosting International Culture Fest from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in Campus Life 100. CSEAS concludes its IEW activities with its Friday brownbag lecture at noon in Campus Life 100. Southeast Asian history professor Vicente Rafael, from the University of Washington, will present “The Trauma of Witnessing: Photographing the Philippine Drug War

Under the watchful eye of Center for Burma Studies Director Catherine Raymond, Carmin Berchiolly cleans a reverse glass painting from Raymond's latest acquisition trip to Myanmar in preparation for the upcoming exhibit of reverse glass paintings at the NIU Art Museum. .

Under President Rodrigo Duterte.” All week long, the Donn V. Hart Southeast Asia Collection in Founders Library is showing a study abroad exhibit featuring photos and stories by NIU students.

The Center for Burma Studies is opening its exhibition, “Vanishing Art from Myanmar: Buddhist Reverse Glass Painting Traditions,” from 5 to 7 p.m. Thursday in the NIU Art Museum. The exhibition, which will be on display through Feb. 15, kicks off the Center for Burma Studies’ one-day international symposium on Asian reverse glass painting traditions, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Friday in Altgeld 315. The symposium is the culmination of several years of field research by CBS Director Catherine Raymond, who in addition to organizing the symposium will be among the presenters discussing this artistic tradition from Myanmar, China, Indonesia and Cambodia. For a complete symposium schedule, see the Center for Burma Studies website.

4. CIA in the world and regional security in China and SEA on spring course list NEW

This spring’s course schedule includes two online Southeast Asian studies classes. CSEAS Director Eric Jones reprises his online course, HIST 480/580, Spies, Lies and Secret Wars: CIA in the World, and China’s Xiamen University guest professor Xu Ke returns after last summer’s on-site short course to teach SEAS 490/690, Regional Security Issues: China and Southeast Asia (also cross-listed as POLS 395). Dr. Xu Ke, associate professor in the School of International Relations at Xiamen, will teach from China for most of the semester with two face-to-face meetings on campus April 25 and May 2.

All five SEA language and literature classes continue: Burmese, Indonesian, Khmer, Tagalog and Thai. The Center’s undergraduate SEA survey class, SEAS 225, Southeast Asia: Crossroads of the World (instructor of record Jui-Ching Wang), is offered from 12:30 to 1:45 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in DuSable 148.

Other spring courses include:

- ANTH 426/526 Political Anthropology (Andrea Molnar)
- ARTH 457/657 Religion, Conflict and Environment in Classical and Contemporary Southeast Asian Art (Catherine Raymond)
- FLBU 400 Special Topics in Burmese Language, Literature, Linguistics or Culture (Tharaphi Than)
- FLIN 400 Special Topics in Indonesian Language, Literature, Linguistics or Culture (Rahmi Aoyama)
- FLTH 400 Special Topics in Thai Language, Literature, Linguistics or Culture (Kanjana Thepboriruk)
- HIST 760 Gender & Sexuality (Trude Jacobsen)
- POLS 667: Seminar: Literature review on problems of political development and social modernization in developing nations (Kikue Hamayotsu)
- MUSE 370/670, Gamelan I (Alex Yoffe).

All courses may be applied toward SEA Studies minors/contract majors or graduate certificates. See full schedule on CSEAS website.

5. Southeast Asia Crossroads: Check out our newest podcast NEW

Get those earbuds on and take a listen to CSEAS’s Southeast Asia Crossroads podcast series (more than 10,500 listens since its debut in September 2016). In our latest conversation, host Eric Jones discusses the 2017 book Flavors of Empire: Food and the Making of Thai America (University of California Press), with author Mark Padoongpatt, associate professor of Asian and Asian American Studies at University of Nevada-Las Vegas. Our following keeps growing around the world with listeners in 70 countries as we cover topics from history and politics to art and culture.

7. Applications open: 2019–20 FLAS fellowships

Whether you’re applying for a summer 2019 or an academic-year 2019–20 FLAS fellowship, or both, you can apply for a Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowship with one application. The application and all information on both summer and academic-year FLAS awards are posted online. Summer FLAS applications due Jan. 1; deadline for academic-year FLAS is Feb. 1. The U.S. Department of Education’s Title VI Program of Foreign Language and Area Studies Fellowships funds FLAS fellowships. Summer FLAS fellowships provide for the summer study of Southeast Asian languages at any U.S. Department of Education-approved educational institution, especially those in Southeast Asia, but also including the Southeast Asian Studies Summer Institute at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. Questions? Contact Assistant CSEAS Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu. What’s it like to be a FLAS fellow? See article in the NIU Newsroom.

8. Applications open: Clark and Arlene Neher Graduate Fellowship

U.S. and international graduate students are invited to apply for the Center’s 2019–20 Clark and Arlene Neher Graduate Fellowship for the Study of Southeast Asia. The fellowship includes a tuition waiver and a $5,000 annual stipend. To apply, students should be at an advanced stage in their master’s or doctoral program, and planning field or archival research in SEA studies. Applicants must also be in good standing with NIU and demonstrate a commitment to career involving SEA Studies. Apply online by Jan. 15; for details, see CSEAS website.

9. Applications open: Dwight Y. King Graduate Scholarship

International students pursuing advanced degrees involving substantial Indonesia research are invited to apply for the 2019–20 Dwight Y. King Graduate Scholarship for the Study of Indonesia. Applicants for this $1,000 award should be a student in good standing and at an advanced stage in their master’s or doctoral program. In keeping with King’s lifelong commitment to public affairs, preference will be given to students interested in working in developing countries. Application must include a personal statement, research proposal, PDF of graduate transcript and a letter of recommendation. Deadline to apply is Jan. 15.

10. Special lecture Nov. 20: British Museum's Alexandra Green

Green

Alexandra Green, Henry Ginsburg Curator for Southeast Asia at the British Museum, will present "Image as Information: Materialising the Buddha in Late Burmese Art" at 5 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 20, in Room 111 in the Jack Arends Art Building. Green has most recently published Buddhist Visual Cultures, Rhetoric and Narrative in Late Burmese Wall Paintings (Hong Kong University Press, 2018) and "From Collecting History to Iconography: Southeast Asian Shadow Puppets in the British Museum" in the Journal of the Siam Society. She is currently working on an exhibition about Sir Stamford Raffles' Javanese collections set to open at the British Museum in 2019.

11. Winning words: Statement of purpose workshop Nov. 29

Applying for graduate school or going for a top scholarship like a Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowship? Learn to put a compelling statement of purpose together from Assistant CSEAS Director Jui-Ching Wang from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Nov. 29 in Room 293, Founders Library. Spend an hour and pick up the tools you need to put together a winning package. For details, contact Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.

12. Indonesian tsunami and earthquake relief—how to help

Indonesian relief groups are mobilizing to deal with the massive destruction and loss of life wrought by earthquakes in Lombok, Bali, in August and earthquakes and a tsunami in Palu, Sulawesi, Sept. 28. If you would like to help, CSEAS has compiled a list of preferred non-governmental organizations accepting donations for relief efforts.

- Indonesian Red Cross: Funds will pay for relief supplies, such as mattresses and baby kits, and vehicles, such as water trucks and heavy equipment.
- CARE: Funds will go toward providing drinking water, shelter and sanitation.
- GlobalGiving: Donations will go toward emergency supplies of food, water and medicine in addition to recovery assistance. Specify Lombok or Palu to find specific donation pathways.
- UNICEF Indonesia: Donations will go toward helping children and families.

13. Nov. 15 deadline for NIU undergrad research grants

Got an undergraduate research project you want to pursue? NIU's Office of Student Engagement and Experiential Learning (OSEEL) has several opportunities to fund student-generated research projects on or off campus, including overseas. Deadlines to apply for these grants range from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15. See the OSEEL website.

14. Module 2 scheduled for distance Burmese class

The second module for Burmese language professor Tharaphi Than's beginning Burmese as a non-credit distance class has been scheduled for Jan. 27 to March 28. Completion of modules 1 and 2 is the equivalent of one-year beginning Burmese taught at NIU. After taking both modules, community college students who intend to transfer to NIU are eligible to apply for Foreign Language and Area Studies fellowships through CSEAS. For details, contact Than at tthan@niu.edu or CSEAS at cseas@niu.edu.

15. Apply online for graduate conference travel

The Graduate School is inviting degree-seeking graduate students in good academic standing to submit travel grant proposals for the 2018–19 academic year. Students invited to present results of their original research or creative activity at a professional may submit a proposal for matching funding through their department to the Graduate School; students must secure $200 to $500 in department or college funding in order to secure the matching funds from the Graduate School. Apply online by any of three rolling deadlines (Oct. 15, Jan. 15 and March 15). Apply online.

16. Burnish your resumé with Southeast Asian Studies

Add a Southeast Asian Studies minor to a bachelor's degree or a graduate certificate to an advanced degree and pull your resumé to the top of the pile. Visit the CSEAS website or stop by CSEAS at 520 College View Court. Undergraduates should contact adviser Colleen Gray at cgray3@niu.edu; graduate students should contact Assistant Director Jui-Ching Wang at jcwang@niu.edu.
